SAFETY TIPS

1. You can get permission to participate in the Product Activity by having a parent or guardian sign the permission slip. Make sure you return the permission slip to your Girl Scout Leader.
2. Review Standard 30 found on page 75 of Safety-Wise (©2000, GSUSA) with your leader/advisor.
3. Remember adults must monitor, supervise, and guide the product activities of all age levels.
4. Always use the buddy system, never sell alone.
5. Brownie and Junior Girl Scouts must be accompanied by an adult.
6. Girls 11-17 who participate in door-to-door sales must be supervised by an adult.
7. Only sell in areas of your neighborhood you are familiar with.
8. Never carry large amounts of cash with you.
9. Never enter someone's home while you are selling.
10. Never sell to people in cars.
11. Girls (or adults) cannot sell product on the Internet. This is a council and GSUSA rule to protect the safety of girls and the integrity of the product. Girls can use e-mail to let family and friends know about the sale.
12. Follow any council guidelines required for the activity.

MARKETING TIPS

- Be prepared:
 - Know your products.
- Besides setting a troop or group goal based on what you want to do for the year, set both a personal sales goal and a personal learning goal. How much do you need to sell to help your group? What would you like to get better at as you work on your marketing skills?
- Share your goals with customers:
 - Explain to your customers how your troop plans to use the proceeds from the Product Activity.
 - Share your personal learning goal and sales goal with your customers.
- Always be courteous and say "thank you," even if you don't receive an order from the customer. When delivering product, remember to say thank you again and let your customer know how your troop/group did on achieving their goals.
